

Database Tables

Our database tables contains a room and user table. The user and room have a one to many associations mapping because each user can create a number of rooms. Furthermore, each user can have multiple friends and multiple pending friends which is denoted by a reflexive association.

