Entity Relationship Diagram

Our ERD contains the User and Room entities. The reason these are the only entities captured is because they are the only ones that need to be stored. A song, song queue, and player will only be on the server and created each time a room has users.